These three award-winning documentaries tell the story of Finnish American, rural working class families in the Lake Superior Region. Buy them for your children and grandchildren so they will see and hear the story of their ancestors. A truly meaningful gift.

“Every time I view these films I can see my life as a young man growing up in my home community of Newberry, MI. I have purchased several of the films for my siblings. Their responses have been similar to mine. In fact, my brother told me that the film brought tears to his eyes as he could see himself and our family in Finnish American Lives. I have been so impressed with the response to these films that I have been purchasing them for my children, nieces and nephews and even great nieces and nephews. All of them have been pleased to learn about the lives of their family and how we worked so hard to establish our family in America.” Dr. Elmer Moisio, Professor Emeritus, Northern Michigan University
